Travel chaos as Amber list thrown out

BORIS Johnson faces claims his system for international travel is in "chaos" after proposals for a new "amber watchlist" category were abandoned.

The Prime Minister (above) pledged to keep travel rules during the pandemic as simple as possible and senior sources ruled out any new category.

But it has emerged the head of the Joint Biosecurity Centre, which advises on travel rules, has left her post without a successor being appointed.

The Government had been considering the new watchlist for nations at risk of being moved into the red group, which requires hotel quarantine on return for 10 days at a cost of £1,750 per adult.

But following a backlash by Tory MPs, ministerial concerns and complaints from the travel industry, Government sources confirmed there would be "no amber watchlist".

11m get COVID tested in Wuhan

AUTHORITIES in the Chinese city of Wuhan are set to begin testing its entire population, after a handful of positive COVID cases were detected.

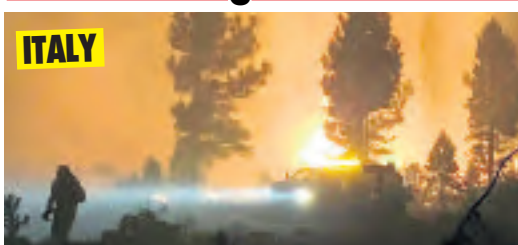

Wuhan has recorded seven locally transmitted cases, the first local infections in a year.

The city of 11 million people shot into the spotlight after coronavirus was first detected there in 2019, thanks to either the locals eating bats or clumsy scientists letting the death plague leak from one of their labs.

A WORLD IN FLAMES

Wildfires rage from Siberia to Spain

ITALY

TURKEY

WILDFIRES are continuing to rage across parts of Turkey, Greece, Spain and Italy, with entire villages and beaches being evacuated.

Coastal areas are among the worst-affected, with fires blazing for a FIFTH day in some of Turkey's Mediterranean resort towns.

Residents and tourists were rescued by small boats during the weekend, as the coastguard and navy ships waited further out to sea in case a larger-scale evacuation was needed.

There are more than 120 fires in Turkey alone, with eight people confirmed dead and 27 more being treated in hospital.

Arson

Fires are common in southern Turkey during hot summers but experts claim this year's are much bigger than usual.

Authorities are investigating possible arson but scientists blame climate change, with temperatures five or six degrees higher than the average for this time of year.

The current heatwave is being fuelled by hot air from northern Africa and the southern coastal city of Antalya reached 42C (107F) during the weekend and temperatures are expected to reach 47C (116F) this week.

Helicopters are being used to fight the flames in some areas that are unreachable by land, but in many places even aerial firefighting was impossible by Sunday night.

In the Italian city of Pescara, on the Adriatic coast, people ran from the beach when they spotted smoke and flames rising from a nearby pine forest.

In Spain, dozens of firefighters backed by water-dropping aircraft were battling a wildfire that broke out on Saturday afternoon just east of Madrid.

Further afield, huge parts of Siberia in Russia are in flames and in the U.S. nine large fires have collectively burned more than 1.8 million acres in 12 states.

Greggs set to open 100 more shops

GREGGS has said it plans to open around 100 new stores by the end of the year after a rebound in sales helped return the chain to profit.

The high street bakery business said it has an opportunity to grow to 3,000 stores as it struck an ambitious tone after withstanding the impact of COVID.

It told investors that the recovery in trade in recent months was "stronger than we had anticipated" as it saw strong trade in suburban areas and on local high streets.

The group has also targeted growth areas such as delivery and drive-thru sales after the pandemic weighed on some core trade, such as its travel sites.

Greggs said its like-for-like sales for the four weeks to the end of July were 0.4% above the levels it saw in the same period in 2019, before the pandemic struck.

The Newcastle-based business said it now expects full-year profits to be "slightly ahead" of previous predictions as a result.

Crude oil cost sees BP boom

BP has unveiled a dividend hike and more share buybacks, with plans for further hefty investor payouts after rising oil prices saw it swing to a half-year profit.

The oil giant posted replacement cost profits of $5.7 billion (£4.1bn) for six months to June 30 against eye-watering losses of $18.3bn (£13.2bn) a year ago, thanks to a sharp recovery in the cost of crude.

On an underlying basis, replacement cost profits stood at $5.4bn (£3.9bn), against losses of $5.9bn (£4.2bn) a year earlier, after a better-than-expected $2.8bn (£2bn) result for the three months to the end of June.

BP announced a 4% rise in the shareholder dividend to 5.46 cents a share for the second quarter and a $1.4bn (£1bn) share buyback before its third-quarter results.

Domino's post £41.3m profit

DOMINO'S Pizza Group has said a "strong" performance by its UK and Ireland business has helped to more than double its profits for the past six months.

The pizza delivery business leapt to a pre-tax profit of £41.3 million for the 26 weeks to June 27, compared with a £19 million profit for the same period last year.

TALIBAN GAINS 'A THREAT TO US ALL'

Afghan general warns as nutjobs advance

AN Afghan general has warned of "devastating" consequences for global security if the Taliban win in their fight against government forces.

General Sami Sadat is leading the battle against the Taliban in the southern province of Helmand, where intense fighting has broken out in its capital Lashkar Gah.

The Taliban have seized districts in the city centre.

But General Sadat said he was confident the group would not take the city and that while ground had been lost, he believed the Taliban would be unable to sustain their assault.

However, he said the Taliban were being reinforced by fighters from other Islamist groups and warned their gains posed a threat beyond Afghanistan.

"This will increase the hope for small extremist groups to mobilise in the cities of Europe and America, and will have a devastating effect on global security," he said.

"This is not a war of Afghanistan, this is a war between liberty and totalitarianism."

The Taliban assault in Helmand province is part of a major offensive across Afghanistan.

The militants have made rapid advances in recent months as U.S. forces have withdrawn after 20 years of military operations there.

Helmand was the centrepiece of the U.S. and British military campaign, and Taliban gains there would be a blow for the Afghan government.

If Lashkar Gah fell, it would be the first provincial capital won by the Taliban since 2016. It is one of three provincial capitals under attack.

Attempts by the militants to capture Kandahar, Afghanistan's second-largest city, have continued after rocket strikes hit its airport on Sunday.

BATTLE: Taliban troops

Seizing control of Kandahar would be a huge victory for the Taliban, giving them a grip on the south of the country.

In a third besieged city, Herat, in the west, government commandos are battling insurgents after days of fighting. Government forces have taken back some areas after a UN compound was attacked on Friday.

TRAGIC

Irwin

SHE recently launched her own subscription-based adults only website and, at the weekend, Steve Irwin's 'hot niece' Rebecca Lobie shared a very racy bum photo to Instagram.

The 33-year-old blonde bombshell flaunted her arse and lean legs in minuscule black shorts as she washed her car at home in Queensland.

Standing with her back to the camera in a flimsy white T-shirt, Rebecca allowed her curly blonde locks to cascade down her back.

Crude

She simply captioned the photo 'Car wash Sunday' alongside a sponge and winking face emoji.

But when the stunning pictures were reported on the website of the hate-filled Daily Mail, readers posted crude, sexist comments.

One reader, calling themselves Maxwell Munguson, speculated about the aroma wafting from Rebecca's hindquarters, concluding it would be "pretty good".

A Manchester-based fiend using the name bobbym commented: "Crikey! Ropey looking face but I still would. Out of respect for Uncle Steve."

Rebecca's uncle, the famed Crocodile Hunter, died when he was speared through the heart by a stingray in 2006. His catchphrase was "Crikey!"

Yet another troll suggested she was "dying for it up the brown chute", speculating with no evidence whatsoever that Rebecca is a fan of taboo anal sex.

Rebecca, who launched her own subscription website last week, says one video shows her 'fully naked... with just the seat belts covering up my [lemon emoji].

"But don't worry, I made sure to pull back to give you a full view. We are just getting started."

Rebecca, the daughter of Steve Irwin's sister Joy, is believed to be estranged from the family since resigning from Australia Zoo in December 2015.

A pal said: "These people speculate about Rebecca spreading her bum cheeks to take an iron-hard cock into her tight rear. It's not on!"

Fury over sicko tour to serial killer's boozier

BEREAVED families are furious over plans for a pub tour which includes a visit to the bar where serial killer Dennis Nilsen hunted victims.

Crime fans will pay £29.99 for the tour, which features a trip to the Golden Lion boozier where the Scottish-born murderer lured his prey during a 15-year reign of terror.

Nilsen (above) died in 2018, more than 35 years after being caged for life for killing up to 15 men he picked up from the streets.

He strangled or drowned his victims before dissecting them, between 1978 and 1983, at addresses in London.

Rory Everett, who runs the Dark Crime Collectables website, is the guide for the two-day Dark Crime Tours event.

David Spencer, of the Centre for Crime Prevention, said: "These tours couldn't be in worse taste."

But now they've been saved, thanks to a 41-year-old mum from Bradford, West Yorkshire.

Amanda Smyth has created an adhesive strapless bra for women with larger breasts.

The mum-of-two was sick of having to wear dowdy outfits on nights out and decided to design the support for her 40G bust.

She spent eight years on research to create the Butterfly Bra, which can hold breasts in place for 12 hours and lasts for 25 uses.

Amanda said: "Trying to find a stick-on bra was so impossible and made me feel down about my body."

An adhesive bra is different to a strapless bra as it has no straps or back.

It has been patented in the UK and Amanda is awaiting approval in Europe and the US.

ANTON Du Beke has said he will be "hugely disappointed" if he is not able to dance during the upcoming series of Strictly Come Dancing.

The professional dancer, 55, joined the judging panel during the 2020 series for a two-week stint but will now be a permanent fixture as he takes over from Bruno Tonioli.

Speaking on Good Morning Britain, Du Beke (above) said: "Well traditionally, the judges don't get involved in the group numbers unless it's like a Halloween theme or something like that."

"I would be hugely disappointed if I wasn't able to do something."

"Maybe if somebody comes in and does a turn or song or something, I could grab one of the girls and we can have a bit of a dance."

"I'd love that, this is the thing I'm going to miss the most."

He said he would be an "empathetic" judge alongside Shirley Ballas, Craig Revel Horwood and Motsi Mabuse on the BBC One show.

Drug-related deaths reach record high

DRUG-related deaths in England and Wales have risen for the eighth year in a row.

There were 4,561 deaths related to drug poisoning registered in England and Wales in 2020, the Office for National Statistics said.

It's the highest number since records began in 1993 and up 3.8% from the previous year.

Due to delays in death registration, around half of the deaths will have occurred in the previous year and the majority before the coronavirus pandemic, the ONS said.

Drug-related deaths have risen by 60.9% in the last 10 years, from 49.4 deaths per million in 2010 to 79.5 deaths per million in 2020.

Of the deaths registered last year, 2,996 were related to drug misuse and 2,263 involved an opiate.

CROCODILE SHOCK!

Panic as killer reptile found in Worcester electricity substation

SHOCKING: Croc was found at high voltage facility in sleepy Worcester

RESIDENTS panicked when a crocodile was spotted lurking in an electricity substation in the sleepy cathedral city of WORCESTER!

Mums rushed to shepherd children indoors after word quickly spread that a man-eating croc was on the loose.

It was spotted on top of a transformer behind a locked gate in a Western Power Distribution substation.

An engineer gingerly approached it and found the crocodile was in fact a "very realistic toy".

A spokesman said: "After reports that a crocodile had been seen in a substation in the Barbourne area of Worcester, one of our engineers visited the site and discovered that the animal was, in fact, a toy. It will now be removed."

Emergency

"We would like to remind customers never to enter electricity substations, or to throw objects inside."

"Substations contain high voltage equipment which can kill."

"Anyone who does lose an object inside a substation is advised to stay well clear and call 105, our emergency number, and wait for help to arrive."

Even wildlife experts were fooled when they were shown photos of it, taken by locals.

Before the truth came out, Wendy Carter, of Worcestershire Wildlife Trust, said: "It certainly looks like a dead croc, perhaps a caiman, but I'm afraid I know very little about how you might identify it from another species."

"It's certainly not native and my guess would be that it's an escaped or abandoned captive animal, but I don't know what species are likely to be kept as such."

Colin Stevenson, head of education at Crocodiles of the World in Brize Norton, said escaped reptiles would not last long in the UK climate, adding: "Even in the warmest British weather, it's chilly for a crocodile."

"There have been crocs and alligators released in the UK. We have one here that was found in a reservoir in Bristol."

"But it wouldn't have been in the reservoir long before capture."

"If an alligator survived the summer months, it would start to decline in autumn and die by early winter."

"A larger animal, one potentially capable of giving a nasty bite, would not survive."

TERRORIST WANTED TO 'KILL THE QUEEN'

A TERRORIST who stabbed two people had become increasingly violent in prison and declared he wanted to "kill the Queen", an inquest heard.

Sudesh Amman, 20, was shot dead by police in Streatham, south London, in February 2020, ten days after leaving prison.

While in HMP Belmarsh, Amman openly expressed "extreme views", including his intention to become a suicide bomber, jurors at the Royal Courts of Justice were told.

Amman injured a man and woman in the attack on Streatham High Road before he was killed by surveillance officers.

He had been jailed for 40 months in 2018 for preparing and engaging in acts of terrorism.

Jurors heard that an assessment by Leon Campbell, a probation officer, said Amman posed a high risk of serious harm to members of the public "due to his promoting of extremist ideas and wanting to carry out a terrorist act".

The inquest continues.

Dead car crash woman 'thrown through sunroof'

THE remains of a woman who had been missing for three weeks were discovered in a stream.

Authorities believe Cassandra Johnston may have died after being thrown through the sunroof of her car during a violent crash.

The 26-year-old's body was found in Byberry Creek by a private investigator in a helicopter who had been hired by her family to find her.

Johnston (above), of Southampton, Pennsylvania, was reported missing last month after she failed to return home from visiting a friend in Philadelphia.

The city's Medical Examiner's Office ruled Johnston's death accidental and said she died from blunt impact trauma.

Investigators now believe Johnston's car went airborne and landed in the woods.

"We believe she was ejected from the car through the sunroof," Lower Southampton Township Police Chief Ted Krimmel said.

BEWARE of the Sindemic...

A surge in affairs has happened since Freedom Day, as the end of lockdown brings sexual liberation to love cheats.

Extra-marital dating sites have reported a 32% rise in activity since the lockdown ended and there are no restrictions on casual sex.

A poll of 2,000 adulterers by IllicitEncounters.com, the UK's leading affairs site, found that 54% of men and 48% of women had slept with someone new since Freedom Day was announced.

And 92% of men and 89% of women said they were more likely to cheat now that there are no bars on hook-ups.

Frustrated

Just over half of men (52%) and a similar number of women (49%) said they were more likely to be attracted to a partner if they have been double jabbed.

A staggering 87% of men and 82% of women had cheated less during the restrictions as they tried to stick to the rules.

That left 84% of men and 74% of women feeling sexually frustrated during lockdown and longing for new opportunities to cheat.

The majority of men (56%) and 47% of women had broken lockdown rules to have sex when the restrictions were in place, while the end of restrictions was an 'aphrodisiac' for 72% of men and 67% of women. And cheaters are more likely to have sex with a new partner more quickly because of how the pandemic had changed mindsets and encouraged people to 'live for the moment'.

The number one reason given for cheating was that 'life was too short', followed by bad sex, bored with partner, need a change and viewing life differently since the pandemic.

IllicitEncounters has seen subscriptions shoot up by 27% since the vaccination programme kicked in and the site's sex and relationship expert Jessica Leoni explained: "Get two jabs, let's have an affair. "That has been our experience over the last few months as members have realised that COVID has become like flu for the double vaccinated.

"All the fear factor has gone and people are embracing the summer of love with gusto while asking partners to prove they've had both vaccines. "We've heard a lot about the Pingdemic, but what about the Sindemic, the explosion of cheating since it has become safe to enjoy casual sex once again."

"Lots of new people are embarking on affairs with a new 'life is too short' attitude and we are attracting lots of new members who have decided after more than a year of being stuck at home with their boring partner that they want to kick start their lives."

Karina See Her, 40, was arrested in St. Paul, Minnesota, after the body of Kou Yang, 50, was found wrapped in "some type of material" beneath a newly built shed.

Yang's body was discovered weeks after a neighbour called cops to report a foul smell emanating from near Mrs Her's back garden.

Mrs Her said Yang had gone to Oklahoma to visit relatives and blamed the bad smell on pigeons.

Investigators using a cadaver dog found Yang's body beneath the shed. He had been shot twice in the back of the head.

Naked man and wild boar photo snapper to sue

A WOMAN whose photograph of a naked man in pursuit of a wild boar at a Berlin lakeside went viral has said she might take legal action against a company that has immortalised the spectacle for model railway enthusiasts.

Adele Landauer, an actor and life coach, said she resented the fact that others were making money from her snapshot (above).

The drama she captured played out after a wild boar, nicknamed Elsa by bathers, stole the man's laptop in a bag.

It has now been adapted into a plastic figurine action set, costing £11.90, and being sold by a model railway company as an embellishment for the landscape of a model railway set.

Landauer said: "I had a huge amount of work due to that picture, but financially I got nothing from it."

"I don't like the fact that others are now earning money from it without asking me."

A spokesperson for Busch, which is behind the action set, said "sales are going well".

Burnt mannequin dumped in skip was woman's body

COPS at the scene of a suspicious fire mistook a woman's burnt body for a mannequin and dumped it in a police station skip.

Officials in the town of Sherbrooke, Canada, apologised for the howler and explained that police and firefighters had been duped by a bystander.

"When they arrived, a witness declared that someone had lit a silicone mannequin on fire," Sherbrooke Police Chief Danny McConnell said.

Hours after authorities trashed the victim's body in the container at Sherbrooke police station, her husband filed a missing person report.

The woman's mobile phone was then tracked to the scene of the fire.

Cops pulled the corpse out of the dumpster and identified it as the body of the missing woman.

"We are sorry about this," McConnell said.

NUTCASE CHOPPED UP HIS CAT WITH A MACHETE

CRUELTY CHARGES:

Loon kept body parts in jars and said 'I want to kill humans, too'

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A MANIAC is facing animal cruelty charges after confessing to cops he decapitated his pet cat and dismembered its body.

Demented Gabriel Kekel, 20, also revealed he fantasised about killing people.

Kekel scooped up the chopped-up bits of the innocent kitty, stuffed them into jars and put them in his attic.

Captain Pat Rader, of the South Charleston police in West Virginia, said: "It's not normal, not in any facet of life, or any part of society, or anywhere in the country.

"It's just not what goes on. It's pretty extraordinary."

According to cops, they were asked to check on Kekel by his sister who was concerned her brother was bonkers.

Capt Rader said: "Our officers and he exhibited some fairly erratic behaviour.

"He started disclosing some things that were fairly bizarre, stuff you read about or maybe see in a movie," Kekel told officers he gave his cat some type of drug or narcotic which made the cat overdose, then cut off its head with a machete and dismembered its body.

Kekel allowed officers inside his home and brought three jars out of the attic which had animal body parts in them, including the cat's head.

He also had jars containing a bird skull, a squirrel's leg and other animal bones.

In another interview at the police station after his arrest, Kekel spoke about his fantasies of killing people and went into specific detail about how he would use a stun gun and then use a paracord to strangle the person.

"Kekel then stated he would dismember the torso and use the skull for DIY projects," police noted.

Kekel, of South Charleston, has been charged with cruelty to animals.

He's being kept in the loon wing of the South Central Regional Jail.

Nature reserve man 'had genitals on show'

A MAN was spotted with his "genitals on show" in a car park, walkers have warned.

The man was spotted with his "dungarees open to his groin" in the Two Tree Island car park in Leigh, Essex.

Taking to social media, witnesses hoped to warn other walkers in the area.

It comes after dogwalkers were left horrified after spotting a condom "birdbox" near the entrance gate of the nature reserve at Two Tree Island.

The birdbox, which contains condoms and wipes, was installed in the "dogging hotspot" to encourage people to have safer sex, even if it is in public, as part of a new sexual health initiative.

FLORAL DRESS FLASHER HUNT

COPS are hunting a man in a floral dress after a flashing incident.

The creep was first reported after he exposed himself to a 15-year-old girl and a woman in her 30s on July 26 in Kirkgate Park, Kinross.

He has now been linked with another incident on the same day.

It has been reported that he flashed himself to another woman in her 50s at a wooded area to the east of Muir Grove and Muirpark Road between 6pm and 6.30pm.

Police described the man as 6ft tall with short dark hair and a slim build.

He was wearing a purple and white floral dress, carrying a black backpack and wearing a black baseball cap.

Sergeant Mark Craig, from Kinross Police Office, said: "The pattern of behaviour shown by this individual over the course of one day has been very concerning."

Sunday was Sisters Day!
No, we'd never heard of it either.
It is a day to acknowledge the joy and love that your sister brings into your life and to make sure that she knows that you cherish all that she does for you.

And the first week of August is apparently Sisters Week, which we assume is some plot by the greetings card and trinket industry to flog even more of their wares.

But we won't let crass commercialisation butt into the special bond that exists between sisters.

Instead, we'll print five pages of sisters showing their lovely busters.

Happy Sisters Week!

CHINA is the world's new powerhouse, on course to overtake the U.S. as the biggest economy after a great leap forward.

But two generations ago, China was on its knees.

That was after the original Great Leap Forward, under Mao Zedong's communist control, collapsed into chaos, starvation and mass deaths.

As many as 60 million men, women and kids died in under five years, leaving some people so desperate they resorted to cannibalism.

They started eating their own elderly parents, and then their own children.

Many still refer to this deadly dictator as Chairman Mao.

But away from the iron fist of Chinese media censorship, the name Chairman Mao has a more truthful ring to it...

Chairman Mao...the world's biggest killer?

THE police log, dated March 1960, is chilling.

"Name of culprit: Zhu Shuangxi. Victims: Husband and elder son. Manner of crime: Corpses exhumed and eaten."

Then comes the lie: "Reason for crime: Livelihood issues."

Famine

Livelihood issues? For that misleading phrase in the official records of Red China under Chairman Mao Tse-Tung, or Zedong, read "famine".

New information is constantly emerging from official party

By KOURTNEY KENNEDY
news@sundaysport.co.uk

records documenting the horrors of that terrible period between 1958 and 1962.

Much of it has been sifted and analysed by Professor Frank Dikotter of the School of Oriental and African Studies at the University of London.

It reveals how the disastrous famine that overtook China's millions was the direct result of blind political dogma backed by centralised control and totalitarian power.

"Revolution is not a dinner party," Mao said.

It was one of those many thoughts that filled the famous Little Red Book beloved by radical students and trendy intellectuals in the West in the Sixties, along with the Labour party's only very recently top men Jeremy Corbyn and John McDonnell.

Nightmare

It was Mao's determination to compete not only with the West but also with the Soviet Union, his rival for the leadership of the communist bloc, that plunged his people into this nightmare.

The first step was a massive programme to build dams and reservoirs.

Peasants who were just about to bring in the corn and rice harvests were hauled off the land and directed in their millions to this gruelling, slave labour with picks and shovels.

In their absence, crops rotted in the soil. There was the first shortage of food that winter.

A rapid spiral of decline set in.

Desperate peasant farmers fed their hungry families on seed they should have kept to plant in the spring.

The next harvest was smaller still.

Nothing was ever thought through. Beijing ordered a national campaign to eradicate sparrows because they were eating grain.

But once the birds were exterminated, insect populations grew in the granaries and the effect was the same.

Farmers were told to replace wooden wheels on their carts with iron ones, but the carts were then too heavy for the bulls to pull them.

THE WORLD'S DEADLIEST DICTATORS

Yet those who went back to wooden wheels to do their job were denounced as counter revolutionaries.

And while the people at home starved, millions of tons of food were being exported to East Germany, Albania and Castro's Cuba, just so Mao could show off his generosity and the superiority of communism.

Suffering

Yet the suffering of those deprived of food was horrendous. In some villages, a tenth of the population died in a single month.

Some ate the straw hunger pangs for a while but blocked up the intestines and bowels.

Many families fled to the cities, where women sold their bodies for a bowl of rice. A man traded his nine-year-old son for 4lbs of peanuts.

It was only a short step to cannibalism, the meat of the dead smothered with hot peppers.

Corpses were dug up and eaten. Families would eat parents. Neighbours would swap children so they didn't have to eat their own.

All private property was taken into state control, down to the ploughs and rakes the farmers needed for their work, and the pots and pans to cook.

Sick

As the food shortage escalated, the communists dictated that those too old or too sick to work would not be fed.

They would be left to starve to death, and the sooner the better.

If they even foraged for food, they were punished. Dying was all that was left to them. And even then they'd most likely be eaten.

As many as three million didn't wait and instead took their own lives.

Discipline was merciless. Villagers caught trying to hide or hoard food were clubbed to death.

IN FRIDAY'S WEEKEND Sport

LEADER: Mao as a young man and in old age (right)

FINAL RESTING PLACE: Mao's corpse was laid to rest in a tomb in Tiananmen Square in 1976

Ears were lopped off, hair ripped out, people branded with hot irons.

In some cases they were forced to eat human excrement, doused in petrol and set alight.

Dikotter found some evidence of all these punishments for offences as small as simply digging up a potato.

In all, he estimated 2.5 million people were beaten or tortured to death.

One 12-year-old boy was drowned in a pond for stealing food from the communal canteen.

After another boy took a handful of grains and his father was forced to bury him alive.

Women were raped at will by party officials and the militia who policed the communes.

It was not unusual for them to be paraded naked through their villages, a humiliation that caused many to kill themselves.

A starving mother accused of stealing a few grains of rice for her two children jumped into a river to drown, with them strapped to her back.

In the province of Sichuan, the size of France and once fertile and prosperous, half the population vanished between 1958 and 1961, leaving fields overgrown with weeds.

In the region of Fuyang, 2.4 million people were dead out of a population of eight million.

Mao described the deaths as "valuable lessons".

Beating

Wherever he went, the roads were lined with quickly-transplanted crops and happy peasants, smiling between gritted teeth to avoid a beating.

Many clung to the belief that the Great Leader knew nothing of their suffering and that the truth was being kept

HORRORS: A farmer kneels at gunpoint (above) before a court enforcing communist land reforms and (right) students, soldiers and workers wave the little red book from him. It was wishful thinking.

Mao set the tone with his observation that "when there is not enough to eat, people starve to death. It is better to let half of the people die so that the other half can eat their fill".

Eventually men in the upper echelons of the party were brave enough to challenge his vision.

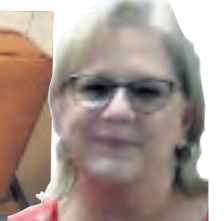

The Great Leap Forward into modernity, in reality a Great Leap Backwards into an era that was medieval in its cruelty and suffering, was gradually abandoned.

As for Mao, history will record that, in that circle of hell he shares with the other 20th century monsters Adolf Hitler and Joseph Stalin, Mao still manages to outstrip those infamous butchers as a true mass murderer.

KILLER FOUND WITH GRAN'S HEAD IN A SUITCASE

MURDER CHARGE: Williams (above) and Melody Gambetty (below)

A KILLER had little chance of claiming "it wasn't me guv", because the victim's head was found in a suitcase in his flat!

Brian Williams is accused of decapitating and dismembering gran Melody Gambetty in what police described as a "gruesome" crime.

The suspect also set fire to the woman's apartment in an attempt to cover it up, investigators said.

Police in Clarksville, Indiana, said crews were called to a fire at an apartment complex.

Firefighters found a headless, dismembered body and police.

Botched

The victim was identified as 67-year-old Mrs Gambetty.

Police later arrested 36-year-old Williams. He is charged with murder, arson and theft.

Investigators don't believe Gambetty and Williams knew each other and believe her death was the result of a botched robbery or home invasion.

Witnesses from the area had reported a "suspicious but polite" man going door-to-door soliciting "community service work".

Surveillance cameras captured images of Williams entering Mrs Gambetty's building and leaving four hours later with two suitcases, which he packed into Mrs Gambetty's car.

It's believed Williams returned to the apartment the next day and started a fire.

Police found Williams at home with a suitcase containing some of Gambetty's body parts, including her head.

SCOUSE stunna Katie Downes is outraged that UN cultural body Unesco has decided to remove Liverpool Waterfront's World Heritage Site status.

She said: "I don't know what they were thinking of. Liverpool Waterfront defined an era as one of the world's top ports."

"I can only think that it is anti-Scouse discrimination at work at the United Nations."

But Liverpool's loss is Wales's gain.

The slate landscape of north-west Wales, said to have "roofed the 19th century world" as its quarries exported slate across the globe, has become the UK's newest Unesco world heritage site.

The landscape surrounding Snowdonia in the county of Gwynedd was awarded the top global status, already enjoyed by sites such as the Great Wall of China, Machu Picchu in Peru, and the Grand Canyon in the US, by the World Heritage Committee meeting in China.

It becomes the UK's 32nd world heritage site after Liverpool was stripped of its status recently over developments, including the planned new Everton FC stadium, that were said to have resulted in a "serious deterioration" of the historic waterfront site.

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Why does the Mayor of London put BEES before paramedics?

BEE FRIENDLY:
But Sadiq Khan
may be putting lives at risk

IF you don't live in London, clap your hands.

If you do, consider slapping them around your chops.

Because bosses are now
"encouraging" their workers to remove their Superman pyjamas and replace them with a suit.

They want you back at work. Not just "working" but "at work".

This "encouragement" will come in many ways.

Mostly it will be gentle chiding, a reminder of how great it is to have to shoot the breeze with actual colleagues in an actual place.

No more bugging about with Zoom meetings or the accompanying worries about whether Live Jasmine will pop up on your feed.

But with the carrot also comes the stick.

Many are being told to go back to the office or else they'll find someone else who will.

It's pretty hard to argue the toss,
too.

Because let's face it, for those able to, working from home has been pretty much a doddle.

Furious

While going back to work in the office, especially if you're in London, sounds bloody awful.

For the great brains that run the capital, still currently largely resembling a ghost town, have spent lockdown cooking up ideas to make our finest city the most awful place to work in.

They've ramped up the "congestion charge", which is Green Party-speak for "extra road tax on top of your road tax which is on top of your income tax and council tax and fuel duty and national insurance and VAT".

They've packed loads and loads of London's inner borough roads with flower planters and barriers, so that cars can no longer drive down certain side streets.

And they've put miles and miles of pointless cycle lanes everywhere so furious motorists, stuck in pollution pumping traffic jams, can stare at the empty tarmac while they fume.

This, we are told, will make BEES very happy.

And I'm glad for the bees, because I've never met one I haven't really liked.

But there's the problem.
I have never met an ambulance driver or a firefighter that I haven't liked, either.

Yet London mayor Sadiq Khan evidently thinks bees are far more important than first responders.

Robbed

He must do. Because he seems more arsed about the availability of pollen snacks for bees than he is about the saving of human lives.

Paramedics now have to battle all kinds of new traffic restrictions to crawl through London.

And that means inevitably that more people will now die in the back of them.

All because of a sodding bee or two.
So while those of you outside
London might be groaning at the idea of driving a few miles to the office, where you can park for free and not be blamed for killing polar bears at the same time, think on.

You could be being told to return to your central London base, where it'll cost you a mortgage to get there in train fees, or an actual palace-sized sum to save the world, while still almost certainly getting your car robbed anyway.

But try to look on the bright side.

If you're really, really lucky, you might get away with not being stabbed.

Groom shot pal for 'cheating' with new wife'

A GROOM allegedly shot a friend on his wedding day because he believed the man was having an affair with his new wife.

Devin Jones, 30, and his bride were riding with the victim after the wedding when they hit traffic on I-10 in St. John's Parish, Louisiana.

The two men started arguing in the car before Jones pulled out his firearm and chased the friend between cars along the highway, shooting and wounding him in the leg.

Jones' wife stopped an ambulance and told medics her husband was trying to kill her before barricading herself inside.

Jones then tried to force his way inside the ambulance.

Jones (above) was arrested by cops. Charges against him are pending.

A bystander was also wounded in the hand after a bullet tore through the rear glass of their vehicle.

The shooting victims are said to be 'stable' in hospital.

Ammunition is flying off shelves as anxious Americans, who bought a record number of firearms during the pandemic, lock and load in response to social unrest and an increase in violence.

The shortage is now impacting law enforcement agencies, as ammunition shelves are bare despite manufacturers saying they are producing as much as they can.

"We have had a number of firearms instructors cancel their registration to our courses because their agency was short on ammo or they were unable to find ammo to purchase," Jason Wuestenberg, executive director of the National Law Enforcement Firearms Instructors Association, said.

Lesbian miss blackmailed teen into fingering sessions

BOT OF THE POPS

A TEACHER is accused of emotionally blackmailing a teenage girl into daily sexual abuse, including knuckle-deep fingering, for almost a year.

Elizabeth Vigil, 32, has been charged with eight counts of criminal sexual penetration of a minor, 12 counts of criminal sexual contact of a minor and three counts of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The victim, who was 15 at the time of the alleged abuse, told her therapist that Vigil threatened to kill herself if the girl stopped seeing her.

According to police, Vigil told the student in April 2017 that she was attracted to her and asked the student if she would want to 'do sexual things'.

Intimate

Vigil then assaulted the student almost every day, whenever she was alone with her.

The encounters were on school property at Aztec High School in Aztec, New Mexico, and at nearby San Juan park.

Vigil told the student she 'was in love with her and would kill herself if she left', so the girl felt forced to engage in intimate acts, police said.

As the abuse continued into the student's sophomore year, Vigil began to talk about their 'future' together and the possibility of being married.

But the student said she 'exploded' and told the teacher she felt manipulated and emotionally blackmailed.

After a final sexual encounter, the pair never spoke again.

The student told police she 'repressed everything until 2019' when she began seeing a school therapist.

Before their physical relationship began, Aztec High School administration had pulled the student from Vigil's class due to an exchange of Instagram messages, that was 'flirtatious' but not 'sexual in nature'.

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Bexi,

MY boyfriend asked me to shag his best mate last week when we had a barbie.

It is not something I have ever thought of doing but for some reason I was up for it. I guess I was feeling horny in the sunshine.

We headed for the bedroom and my fella watched and wanked himself off as his mate shagged me doggy-style.

After he had shot his load over me, I sucked my fella back to hardness and he gave me a really good seeing to while I sucked off his mate.

We were exhausted when we finally fell asleep. But what's shocked me is that when I woke up in the morning, in bed between the two of them, I didn't feel as guilty as I should have done.

Why am I so mixed up?

PW, Berkshire

Bexi says...

I'D be more worried that your fella asked you to do it in the first place.

Dear Bexi,

MY hubby is ridiculously mad about cars and I swear he gets a bigger hard-on when he bangs me in a car than he does when he screws me in bed.

He is always taking me out in the car for a bonk on the back seat. That's okay, but I do like to romp in bed from time to time.

There are other things as well. He likes to pretend he's a racing driver when we shag and he uses my breasts as though they are the steering wheel.

Then, when he shoots his hot sticky jizz into me, he calls it his gearstick giving my tubes a lube-job.

What can I do to get him back interested in me alone again?

DC, Luton

Bexi says...

TELL him unless you get it in bed more often, you'll have him scrapped.

Garden paradise involves giving wife a good forking

Dear Bexi,

MY missus and I have made the garden our paradise, at least in the summer.

We are not overlooked by any of the neighbours – and it's a good job because when we have done all the weeding and potting out, we like to get our kit off and set about f***king.

The wife does a slow strip, peeling off her jeans and wellies and then her panties.

Then she tugs off my overalls (I wear nothing underneath).

I lay her over a raised bed and tongue her quim until she's pleading for my dibber – and I don't disappoint.

Having sex in the garden is amazing – there's just something very erotic and totally liberating about doing it in the great outdoors.

And now we are wondering whether to invite members of our gardening club to a barbecue-cum-orgy at ours.

Should we go for it?

DB, Cumbria

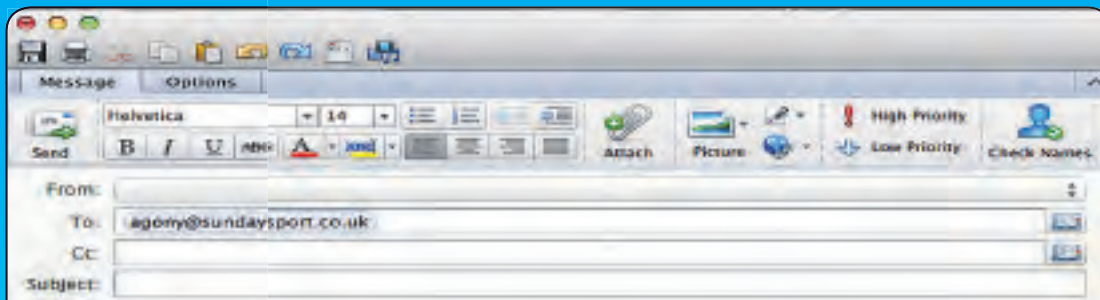

Bexi says...

ONLY if you're sure the ladies like being green-fingered.

My florist hunk's massive stalk-on

Dear Bexi,

I DECIDED to cheer myself up after dumping my boyfriend by buying myself a lovely bunch of flowers.

And I couldn't help but notice what a hunk the guy in the florist shop was.

I had a feeling he would have a stalk worth looking at and that it would really bloom if I could get my hands on it.

He took quite a fancy to me, too, so I arranged to see him that very evening round at my flat.

I had been right for, after a bit of chat, we got down to business.

And when I undressed him, well, what a stalk he turned out to have.

Stiff

It certainly bloomed under my fingers – with a nice red head, thick stem and lovely balls.

I didn't put it in water of course, I dipped it in juice. It went deep into my pussy with no trouble at all.

He had already been down there with his tongue – making me so wet I could have kept all the flowers in his shop in bloom, at least that's what it felt like.

Then I climbed on top – I prefer it that way because as I slide up and down my boobs jiggle and bounce and I love that feeling.

He was using his hands on my breasts and pulling at my stiff, erect nipples as I rode on that huge stalk faster and faster.

He seemed to grow even bigger as he continued to do wonderful things to my boobs and bum.

Then he shot his load of passion seeds right up inside me and I thought I was going to explode with delight.

He flooded me with his stuff and when his hard-on began to subside I climbed off and licked and lapped at his wet and sticky stalk.

But after that I couldn't get him hard again no matter how I tried.

Where did I go wrong?

JR, Cheshire

Dear Bexi,

I WAS watching pop babe Rita Ora on the telly the other night and she left me absolutely gagging for it.

I don't know what it is about her, but she just gets me hard – the way she struts about on stage, showing off her gorgeous boobs and fit arse.

When the missus came home I quickly ripped off her clothes, licked her out spreadeagled on the floor and boned her on the stairs.

Do you know where I could find a Rita mask for the wife, as it would get me going all the time, I reckon?

VS, Birmingham

Bexi says...

LIKE his flowers, he closes up and goes to sleep at night. Next time get him in the morning – while he's still fresh.

Bexi says...

LOOK online. Happy hunting!

Hubby's workmates scored with me during Test match

Dear Bexi,

I'M on my own a lot because my hubby's a massive cricket fan who follows England all over the country.

During one of the Tests the doorbell rang and I was surprised to see two of my hubby's workmates with lager and bottles of wine.

They are young lads in their mid 20s – I'm 34 – and they asked if they could watch the Test with me. I agreed, so they poured me a glass of wine and I soon felt tipsy.

They were a bit drunk too, and when one of the batsmen got a century we all hugged each other.

As we did, I felt a bulge in one of the guy's trousers. Then he kissed me and confessed that he had always fancied me. His pal blurted out that he did too.

Then the first guy pulled out his nine-inch weapon. I was so impressed I eagerly took it in my mouth.

Thrust

His pal pulled down my jeans and panties. He gently licked me out and then entered me from behind.

I was in heaven as he thrust into me and the other guy climaxed in my mouth.

Next they swapped places and I sucked on the second guy's cock, which was as impressive as his mate's.

But after they left I went back to the TV and the camera flashed on to my husband in the crowd and he was smiling and waving.

I felt terribly guilty and now I'm wondering if I should confess to him.

NP, east Yorkshire

Bexi says...

DON'T do it. You've been naughty, but confessing to your hubby about it will wreck your marriage.

Dear Bexi,

I'M a bit of a golf widow, as my hubby is always out on the course whenever he's got any free time.

Our sex life has been really suffering of late because he's either never here or just too tired to make love to me.

And now, to make matters worse, he's gone off on a stag do to watch some big professional tournament with his pals.

So the other night I went to a bar and picked up a young stud.

I took him back to my place and was soon sucking on his throbbing man-meat as he licked and probed my vagina with his tongue and fingers.

He then spread my legs wide and thrust inside my sopping wet love-hole as he teased my clitoris and gently fingered my arse.

I had my first orgasm within seconds and I'm not ashamed to say my love juices were literally gushing all over him.

We carried on making love for the rest of the night, but after he'd gone I couldn't help but feel a little guilty.

Should I tell my husband about this night of madness?

JL, Lincolnshire

Bexi says...

I WOULDN'T tell him about the fling, but perhaps you should mention the lack of sex in your relationship.

#MY SEX FANTASY

'I shot a clip of me playing with myself and then uploaded it!'

I GET really turned on by making porn films at home.

It's such a thrill, doing naughty things to each other after the record button's pressed!

It brings out my wilder side, a kind of porn star persona! I act up to the camera and become an exhibitionist.

Whenever I watch porn I'm always picking up tips. I think 'oh yes I'll copy that!'

Rimming

I've done some kinky things on film, from mere strip-teasing to anal sex to rimming and to deepthroating.

They are generally recorded for my private collection only.

Except one time, I was home alone drunk and horny. I wore a masquerade mask for some anonymity and shot a cheeky clip of me playing with myself and uploaded it to an amateur porn site!

It got 23,000 hits last time I checked! Oops.

I just think life is too short for vanilla sex!"

KINKY Katerina is the woman to call if you're suffering a bout of 'man flu', because she loves to play doctors and nurses!

The 32EE blonde said she enjoys pouring her ample curves into a naughty nurse's uniform.

So if you've got an ache or pain, the Peterborough sizzler said she can kiss it better!

Katerina said: "I used to work in a hospital and would often get wolf-whistled by randy builders on my way to work."

"But the real uniform that's worn by nurses is not that sexy, really. Now I have the skimpiest nurse's outfit for the bedroom and that's much better!"

"It's extremely tight across the chest and shows off my puppies!"

SPECIAL OFFER: ANY 3 PRIVATE SHOPS DVD'S FOR £25 (was £75)

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day.

Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Smallc*** and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of noshing as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVD's at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

MICHELLE COLLINS

IT'S not hard to see why glamour legend Michelle Collins made it onto the readers' request page.

Peter Webster, from Newcastle upon Tyne, emailed in to ask us for a snap of the 32F blonde Exeter stunna.

The Geordie glazier, 57, told us: "Sam is just out of this world."

"None of today's lasses I've seen out in the Toon look could hold a torch to her."

"Please can you stick a topless photo of her in the paper sometime soon."

Today suit you, Peter?

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport - where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see - TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service - UNIQUE to British newspapers - is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

CASSIE SUMNER

TREE surgeon Martin Quinn chops down huge oaks for a living - but it's Cassie Sumner who gives him a serious case of wood.

Martin, 36, from Guildford, only has eyes for Cassie and wanted a snap of the Chichester babe's 32DDs.

He told us: "Fern is a real beauty and I've never seen a more perfect pair of knockers - she's a proper stunna if you ask me."

"If you could print a photo in the Midweek Sport of her boobs, it would be really appreciated by the lads at work!"

MIA MALKOVA

FOOTBALL coach David Hicks asked for a photo of Mia Malkova so he can give his players a pre-season pick-me-up.

David, 43, coaches a Sunday league team and said a saucy shot of Richmond-born Mia will give his team a boost.

He said: "I promised them I'd show them something local that was top quality - a pic of 34C Mia in the dressing room will be a good luck omen!"

NAUGHTY Natalie Denning has confessed her saucy COLLEGE GIRL fantasy!

The Worcester beauty said she once surprised a boyfriend wearing a short, pleated skirt paired with a white blouse, knee-length socks and a striped tie.

And the 34C blonde admitted she loves experimenting with sexy bedroom scenarios.

Natalie said: "I like to dress up as a college girl for my man every now and then."

"I'll wear an itsy-bitsy skirt, a tie, white socks, a boater hat and I even put my hair in pigtails."

"And I don't wear bra or knickers with that outfit!"

"I love a bit of saucy role play and costumes are a massive turn-on!"

Refs make change to end video nasties

PREMIER League refs have been told to give attackers benefit of the doubt when looking at VAR offside this season.

After complaints from players, fans and managers, there are being changes made to the video ref system.

They are going to use thicker lines when looking at VAR offside decisions.

That is designed to end the crazy calls when attackers are flagged for their armpit being an inch offside.

It's thought that as many as 20 disallowed goals would have stood last season if that rule was used.

Offside has been one of the biggest bugbears in the first season of VAR.

But attackers should find it harder to win penalties when the Premier League kicks off again.

Referees have been told that the slightest contact will no longer be enough to award a spot kick.

Strikers got more and more canny as last season went on when buying penalties.

Talking

The change will hopefully stop all the diving.

Chief ref Mike Riley said: "We spent a lot of time last season talking to the clubs, players, managers and to fans' groups, looking at how we can improve refereeing within the context of Premier League football."

"Some of the things are VAR-related, like marginal offside, but fundamentally we want the approach to be one that best allows the players to express themselves — allows the Premier League game to flow."

"It means that the refereeing team of referees and VARs don't intervene for the trivial offences."

"Referees will look for contact and establish clear contact, then ask themselves the question: does that contact have a consequence?"

"They will then ask themselves a question: has the player used that contact to actually try and win a foul penalty? So it's not sufficient just to say: 'Yes, there's contact.'"

Guardiola willing to let Brazil striker go as Blues hunt Kane

MANCHESTER City are willing to offer £100m PLUS Gabriel Jesus for Harry Kane.

The Premier League champions have reportedly lodged their first bid for the England captain.

Tottenham want £150m for their prized asset who has failed to show up for training so far this week.

That £100m cash offer is boosted by City offering the Londoner a ready-made replacement in Brazil hitman Jesus.

He scored 14 times for the champs last season but has never been one of Pep Guardiola's favourites.

The 24-year-old lost his place later in the campaign but he would be able to slot straight into the Tottenham side and mean boss Nuno Espirito Santo doesn't have to panic buy in the final days of the summer transfer window.

By PAUL THOMAS

City would ask around £70m for Jesus on the open market but are willing to throw him into the Kane deal to get it over the line.

The England skipper is expected to turn up for Spurs training before the weekend with boss Santo keeping quiet about the situation at the moment.

Kane has three years left on his deal at the new White Hart Lane but thinks he has a gentleman's agreement to leave the club this summer.

There is some positive news for Spurs fans as Argentina centre-back Cristian Romero is close to signing from Atalanta. Tottenham have agreed a package worth around £50m with the Italians. The 23-year-old is on his way to London to complete the move.

City are desperate to spend big in this window and are hot on the heels of Jack Grealish.

The Aston Villa skipper has gone back to training in Birmingham while the champions chase him in a £100m deal.

The 25-year-old still has the armband but looks increasingly likely to leave Villa Park.

Boss Dean Smith will not stand in his way if City want to smash the British transfer record — at least until they get Kane and break it again.

Villa have moved to replace Grealish by signing Leon Bailey from Bayer Leverkusen. He isn't a like-for-like swap but will provide attacking quality.

CHELSEA are being frustrated in their bid to sign a big-name striker this summer.

They want Erling Haaland from Borussia Dortmund but the German side are digging and want to keep the Norwegian for another season.

It also looks as though Inter Milan will keep hold of former Stamford Bridge hitman Romelu Lukaku.

The Belgian banged in 24 goals as the Serie A title came back to the San Siro.

Chelsea are thought to have made two offers for Lukaku with the latest being around £80m plus Marcos Alonso.

The Italians are skint but know there would be a massive fans revolt if they sold their striker. They may have to offload his strike partner Lautaro Martinez though to balance the books.

Atletico Madrid and ARSENAL are other clubs interested in him.

Martinez is thought to favour the Premier League over Spain so the Gunners could be in with a chance despite not having Champions League football.

LIVERPOOL could move for Real Betis midfielder Guido Rodriguez. The Reds could get the Argie international for around £25m.

That would fit their transfer policy for the 27-year-old as he is a relatively cheap option.

Rodriguez starred for Argentina during their Copa America win and was a regular in La Liga.

Boss Jurgen Klopp needs at least one more midfielder with Georginio Wijnaldum having just left to sign for PSG.

He is very much a holding player which could indicate that Jordan Henderson may actually leave Anfield this summer.

The club captain wants a new long-term deal but talks have stalled and he would rather move on now rather than let his contract run down.

Paris St Germain could come calling to partner him with Wijnaldum again.

The 31-year-old has two years left on his deal so Liverpool don't have to sell — and would ask at least £25m for Hendo.

Klopp would be very reluctant to let his skipper leave but he's confirmed he won't be available for the first couple of league games.

HARRY GETS KANED!

Spurs dig in over £150m Man City transfer

TOTTENHAM are playing hardball with striker Harry Kane.

The England skipper has his heart set on signing for Manchester City this summer.

He failed to turn up on the opening day of Spurs training ahead of the new season. And he wasn't there yesterday either as the toys well and truly came out of the pram.

By JOHN ANTHONY

Many pundits see that as the 28-year-old trying to force a move through.

But Tottenham chief Daniel Levy is world famous for not letting his players leave for a penny less than his valuation.

In Kane's case, that would appear to be around £150m.

That's more than City — or any other team — want to pay for a 28-year-old who has spent significant parts of the past two seasons on the sidelines with injury.

Other critics point out that he has gone missing in Spurs and England's biggest games.

It appears that Levy won't budge on his asking price even if Kane refuses to train with the rest of the squad. And Spurs are not keen on selling their star striker to a Premier League team whatever the fee.

Tottenham insiders claim Kane has said he'll never pull on the white shirt of the Londoners again.

But it appears City will have to pay full whack to get their man.
